

U. S. AID FOR VILLA CAUSE UNDER PROBE

DEPARTMENT ON TRAIL OF EVIDENCE SHOWING BANDIT IS GETTING AMERICAN SUPPLIES.

EXPECT A LONG CHASE

Pershing Prepared for Long, Relentless Hunt in Effort to Round Up Brigand.—Associates May Betray Him.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, March 30.—Department of justice agents following a trail which is said to lead to American sources of supply for Villa have uncovered evidence in New York and other cities which they believe will justify the charge. The department is inclined to act on its evidence that American money and supplies have gone to Villa while it is in the stage that will involve only subordinates. It intends to pursue the trail if possible to the very highest up.

Chase May Last Weeks.

El Paso, Tex., March 30.—Brigadier General Pershing has projected a long and relentless campaign in the hunt for Villa—a chase that may last for many weeks before the fleeing bandit is run to death. This information was obtained here today from military men who made no secret of their belief that Villa and his followers are being supplied by American forces and American troops. Mexican officials said today they had no news as to Villa's whereabouts, but the reports of the fact that government was aiding the American soldiers in trying to round up the brigand.

The last of the information was that Villa was moving through the Santa Maria valley. Once among his people, he would give American troops misleading information regarding his whereabouts. Villa might escape detection for a long time.

Price on Villa's Head.

Rancheros from the region west of Chihuahua City said that when it became known there was a price on Villa's head, they said the bandit would be in constant danger of betrayal. Whether the American troops have made it known there is a reward for Villa has not been learned here, but it is assumed that the word has been spread among the poor population as the American soldiers move from place to place.

Moving bands of Villa men are reported everywhere in the region of Santa Maria valley, but apparently the American columns have not come in contact with them.

General Pershing on Tuesday said that Villa and his followers had moved to the south of the Rio Grande, becoming current here today, but was not confirmed. Neither General Pershing nor Mexican Consul Garcia had received any word from the American troops in the northwestern region said they had no information regarding the reported raid, which was not confirmed.

To Order Eight Airships.

Washington, March 30.—Immediate purchase of eight airships to be sent at once to General Pershing was authorized today by the war department. Reports from Major Pershing had stressed upon the need for more flyers with advance columns in Mexico. Of the eight machines which accompanied the expedition, two have been destroyed and four others have been temporarily disabled, leaving only two in service.

A portable machine shop to repair damaged airplanes on the field has been sent into Mexico. More horses are also to be sent General Pershing. Several hundred are being bought in California and an estimate for two thousand more has been sent to congress. Every cavalry horse in the army remount stations has been sent to the border.

To Maintain Truck Line.

San Antonio, March 30.—Although military supplies will be offered to the management of Mexico Northwestern railway at Juarez today for shipment of American troops in Mexico, army officers at El Paso are regarding the conditional use of the road as experimental that the motor truck line from Columbus will be maintained.

ORDERED TO THE MEXICAN BORDER

Major Melvin W. Rowell (top) and Major Robert L. Howse.

Majors Melvin W. Rowell and Robert L. Howse, of the 11th U. S. Cavalry, formerly on detail at the Army War College, Washington, have been ordered to Columbus, New Mexico. They will remain on the border until after the return of the American troops now in Mexico.

MERCIER'S SECRETARY ARRESTED AS A SPY

Understudy of Belgium Prime Minister Held By Germans.—Charge Communication With Enemy's Front.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Berlin, March 30.—M. Lincin, private secretary to Cardinal Mercier, the Belgian prime minister, has been arrested today by German troops in Brussels given out by Overmars.

"An investigation was begun some time ago of M. Lincin," says the news agency, "who was suspected of maintaining forbidden intercourse with the enemy. A search of his house proved he had intimate relations with an organization, that secretly carried letters between Belgium and the enemy's front."

CONVICT TWO BOYS OF KILLING HERMIT

Chicago Lads Must Serve Fourteen Year Sentences for Murder of Aged Recluse.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, March 30.—Two sixteen-year-old boys were sentenced today to fourteen years imprisonment for the murder of an aged hermit. The boys, Charles M. Whitman and Joseph J. Mark, were convicted of murdering Joseph Osborn, a hermit in a hut here last October.

The boys went to the hut for the purpose of robbery. When Osborn refused to tell where the money was, the left ear then was cut off and then the youths stabbed him and fractured his skull with a heavy frying pan. The boys were taken to the hospital in connection with Peck's death, a detective waited all night at Kane's home, but the embalmers did not appear. Mrs. Kane said she feared her husband would come home today.

UNDERTAKER WANTED IN THE WAITE CASE

Circulars Describing Undertaker Sent Out by New York Police Department.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

New York, March 30.—Circulars bearing photograph and description of Eugene O. Kane, who Dr. Waite charged accepted $9,000 and the promise of $15,000 for wearing and using arsenic in embalming the body of Waite's father-in-law, John Peck of Grand Rapids, were scattered broadcast today at the order of the district attorney. While Waite was held at Bellevue hospital in connection with Peck's death, a detective waited all night at Kane's home, but the embalmers did not appear. Mrs. Kane said she feared her husband would come home today.

SEEK TO FIX BLAME FOR RAIL SMASH-UP

FOUR INVESTIGATIONS ARE IN PROGRESS TO ASCERTAIN CAUSE OF CLEVELAND WRECK.

TOWERMAN TESTIFIES

Denies That He Was Asleep or Exhausted for Want of Sleep and Asserts Signal Failed to Work.

Cleveland, March 30.—Full toll of the railroad wreck at Amherst yesterday cannot be known for several days, said surgeons attending the victims, but it is certain to exceed 27, the present figure. Of the injured Albert Keller of Chicago, and Wilbur Mahoney of Toledo, are not expected to live more than a few hours.

Meanwhile the wheels have been set in motion for a quadruple investigation of disaster. They will be conducted by the federal, state and county governments, as well as by the railroad company. At this time the only names mentioned in connection with the inquiry are those of Towerman Ernest and Herman Hess, engineer of the second section of the east bound flyer.

Investigations Under Way.

With the bodies recovered from yesterday's wreck of Great New York Central train at Amherst, O., attention today was focused upon the several investigations that were put under way by federal, state and railroad authorities to determine responsibility for the wreck. Representatives of the interstate commerce commission, utilities commission of Ohio, and various department heads of the New York state government were conducting investigations in Cleveland and other points in the vicinity of the wreck.

Coroner Charles Garver of Lorain county, planned to begin an inquest at Amherst, O., today, to determine the principal causes, and the causes leading there to.

The question of whether the so-called "death coach" on train No. 86 was of modern steel construction, as alleged by the New York Central, or was mainly of wood construction, promises to be an important feature of investigation.

Allegation Towerman Asleep.

Railroad officials today were still divided in opinion as to whether the blame should be placed upon the towerman, who is alleged by some officials to have been asleep at the time of the wreck, or upon the engineer, who they say, it may be shown either failed to see the signal or exceeded his speed.

Of the more than forty persons injured in the wreck, several were said to be in a precarious condition early today, and more fatalities were feared. Railroad men say only 27 bodies have been recovered, and they regarded as impossible that more bodies are in the ruins. Unofficial, but what were regarded as reliable reports, place the number of dead at 27.

The two men at whom most of the questions were to be directed at today's investigation were Engineer Ernest D. W. Leonard, of the first section of train No. 86, and Towerman Hess, of the second section of train No. 86, which pulled the "death car," asserted he sent his train signal, originating in Ernest's tower.

Engineer Saw No Signal.

Engineer Hess declared he saw no signal when he brought his section booming along at an estimated speed, about three minutes later.

Ernest asserts he set no stop signal, declaring the line was open for Engineer Leonard to go ahead.

Hess is held responsible in the investigation, the blame will trace back to a baby's tiny crib in Ernest's home at Elvira. The baby was born Sunday night, since that time Ernest has had little sleep, railroad men say.

Ernest, the towerman, today stoutly denied that he was asleep or that he was incapacitated by loss of sleep. He asserted that he set the signal properly but it failed to work, and the accident was caused thereby.

Claims Signal Failed.

"While my wife was ill," said Ernest, "I got no regular sleep and went about my duties as usual. The signal simply failed to work, that is all."

If the signals had been working properly, the black signal light, two miles away, would have flashed a caution and the block a mile away, would have signaled Hess to come to a dead stop. Hess was too good an engineer to run past two signals set against him.

"I was on the lookout for train No. 86. When it was two miles away I threw the signal lever into the clear, and the black signal light flashed. There had been a signal failure, and the train stopped. When the train had stopped I again jammed the signal lever into the clear and this time the black signal light flashed. I started ahead. Then the crash came. I didn't have time to stop the 20th Century before it, too, crashed into the wreck."

ANOTHER AIR RAID MADE ON SALONIKI

German Aeroplanes Make New Attack on City.—No Damage Inflicted.—Venice Target of Attack.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Saloniki, March 30.—A Havas dispatch from Saloniki says that another aerial raid on the city was made yesterday by German aeroplanes. French aeroplanes engaged them and compelled them to turn without accomplishing their object. Several bombs were dropped on Orfaina, but did no damage.

Venice Again Target.

Rome, via Paris, March 30.—It is announced that six persons were slightly wounded by bombs thrown from Austrian aeroplanes during a raid in the province of Venice last Monday.

Wreck Austrian Airship.

Rome, March 30.—An Austrian aeroplane was brought down during the raid over Venetian provinces last Monday and eight Austrian officers were taken prisoners, according to latest official reports. The raiders failed to inflict any damage of significance, it is declared, and only a few persons were wounded.

STUDENTS INTERRUPT PREPAREDNESS TALK

Anti-Militarist Outbreak Occurs at College of New York During Speech by General Wood.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

New York, March 30.—The appearance of Major General Leonard Wood today to speak at a meeting of students of college of the City of New York on preparedness was occasion of an attempted demonstration of anti-militarism among the students and the result being that several who interrupted his address.

A student who attempted to rally those opposed to preparedness was hustled from the hall and another was sent to the police. The speaker, General Wood, was escorted to the hall by the president of college and members of the faculty.

COAL FOR BALLAST USED ON SOO LINE

Was Only Available Material for Use, Following Washout Near Chippewa Falls.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chippewa Falls, March 30.—A washout of the Soo line tracks for several hundred feet at Downing is reported today. The Soo rushed thirty cars of coal from here and dumped it on the roadbed as ballast, this being the only material available. An ice gorge on Black River near Witchee threatens to carry off the Soo bridge.

The Chippewa river is rising rapidly here, and threatens destruction of the Point Creek dam.

All streams in northern Wisconsin are approaching the flood stage and much damage is expected.

PHILIPP GIVES VIEW ON GAME SITUATION

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Superior, Wis., March 30.—Before leaving Superior today, after three addresses delivered in this city, Governor Philipp agreed with members of Douglas County Fish and Game league that money derived from hunting licenses should be set aside for preservation of game in Wisconsin. Governor Philipp said also he believed the time had come when it is necessary to establish game reserves in order to preserve wild life in the state. He declared the new conservation commission would be an important factor in protecting game.

MUSKRAT BURROWS DROP ON NORTH BLUFF STREET

Muskrat burrows that line the river bank on North Bluff street leading out of the city, have dropped in since the thaw, necessitating repair work today by the street department. The rats dig their way under the road during the winter time and when the frost went out of the ground, the road bed dropped a foot or more as traffic passed over last night there was nearly a panic when a small muskrat ran along the curb on West Milwaukee street. Women believing the animal to be a common rat, made a mad scramble for safety zones than the sidewalk and several of them expressed their excitement by shrieks. The muskrat was killed by male pedestrians. Light patrol officers report that they have often seen and killed the animals as they come up from the sewers to the street during times of high water, as their burrows are flooded.

FIGHTING CONTINUES AT AVOCOURT WOODS

German Infantry Attacks Attempted According to Paris—Dutch Cable Cut by Germans—Ships Sunk.

TOWERMAN TESTIFIES

Denies That He Was Asleep or Exhausted for Want of Sleep and Asserts Signal Failed to Work.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Paris, March 30.—Several German infantry attacks upon Avocourt woods, in an endeavor to retake lost positions, were made last night. The war office report of this afternoon says those assaults failed. No further advances against Malancourt were attempted by Germans. East of the Meuse there was heavy artillery fighting.

Repulse French Attacks.

Berlin, March 30.—The repulse of repeated attacks by the French in efforts to recapture positions they had lost in the Meuse, was not without success, it is announced today by the German army headquarters staff.

Holland Cable Cut.

London, March 30.—Complete suspension of telegraph communications between Holland and England is reported by the Rotterdam correspondent, whose dispatches were forwarded from Copenhagen by the Exchange Telegraph company. It is rumored the cable has been cut by Germans.

Dutch Vessel Torpedoed.

Copenhagen, via London, March 30.—The Rotterdam correspondent of the Politiken says that according to evidence gathered by the Dutch ministry of marines, the Dutch steamship Palembang was torpedoed while she was lying in the straits of British destroyed which was engaged in picking up mines. The inference drawn, the correspondent says, is that the Palembang was sunk by a submarine which intended to destroy British warships and not the Dutch merchantman.

U-Boat Base at Corfu.

Paris, (delayed) March 28.—Discovery in the Greek island of Corfu of an elaborate organization for providing information and supplies for submarines is reported in a Rome dispatch to the Journal. About forty persons, including the keeper of one of the principal hotels, have been arrested and will be removed to France.

British Steamer Sunk.

London, March 30.—The British steamship Diadem, 3,800 tons, has been sunk.

GERMAN IS LANDED BY BRITISH VESSEL

Attempt to Hold Up Crew of Steamer Matopha Is Charge Made By Ship's Officers.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Lewes, Del., March 30.—The British steamer Matopha, which sailed from New York yesterday with munitions and other supplies for Vladivostok, put in at the Delaware breakers today flying signals asking for immediate assistance and later landed a German who, it is alleged, had two revolvers in his possession. Members of the crew of a pilot boat which landed the man from the steamer said they were tried to hold up the crew of the Matopha. It is not yet known whether he is a member of the crew or a stow-away.

MADISON RAILWAY COMPANY TO MAKE IMPROVEMENTS

Organization of the Southern Wisconsin Railway Company Operating in Wisconsin.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madison, March 30.—The railroad commission today authorized the reorganization of the Southern Wisconsin Railway company operating in Wisconsin. It will be known as the Madison Railway company and will be permitted to issue $1,500,000 in bonds and to increase its capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. Extensive improvements are planned.

VILLA SENDS BOYS TO SCHOOL IN U. S.

Pays Expenses of Six Young Mexicans to Attend Military Academy.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

San Rafael, March 30.—Six Mexican boys are being educated at a local military academy at the expense of Francisco Villa, it became known here today. They have been studying here since 1913, with $18,000 tuition for three years paid in advance. The Mexican outlaw also spends $4,000 in giving six other youthful proteges a year's training at another military academy here two years ago.

The fact Villa was sending them through school was kept a secret until recently.

MORE MEN FOR NAVY ADVISED BY DANIELS

SECRETARY TELLS COMMITTEE HE FAVORS TOTAL STRENGTH OF 65,952 MEN.

DIFFICULT TO RECRUIT

Must Remove Barriers to Advancement and Urge Advantages of Educational Features, He Testified.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, March 30.—Secretary Daniels began his statement to the senate naval committee today with a discussion of personnel. The annual loss from terminating enlistments was 12,875 men, he said, and wastage from other causes was 8,250. To add a single man to the full quota, he added, meant that the 8,250 must be first restored by new enlistments. Requirements are so rigid that only one in six applicants is accepted. Conflicting views as to proper enlisted strength, he said, were based on different ideas as to how many ships should be kept in reserve and how many men should constitute reserve crews. His own recommendations based on experience of the department and advice of many officers looked to a total enlisted strength of 65,952 men.

Difficult to Recruit.

"In time of peace," he said, "I do not believe we can add 20,000 men to the navy in one year, as has been suggested. We now have difficulty in keeping the present quota full because of high wages ashore."

The problem, Secretary Daniels said, was to enlist men of the right type.

"The navy today," he said, "is a great machine shop. I believe the day comes when we will not accept any man who has not had some experience as a chauffeur, a machinist, or in other vocational callings."

The secretary defended the educational features developed during his administration, saying that they were bringing in men of the highest type.

Defends Educational Phase.

"You can never have an efficient navy," he said, "if you build a bulkhead so high that young men who enter at the bottom cannot rise to the top. I burned a bushel of recruiting literature, showing men going to the tropics and associating with half-dressed women. It was in vain. Our literature now shows that men who enlist will get educational and vocational training. The educational part of the deal does not contend with target practice or maneuvers. The captains may suspend it as they deem best."

The far-reaching naval reserve plans have been under discussion for some time, he said, but they have not been provided for questions never before asked and are vital elements in the whole naval preparedness case.

The local authorities, he said, had insured an adequate supply of live officers in time, but more men qualified for special work were needed now and more engineering officers were necessary.

DREADNAUGHTS WIN WAR'S BIG VICTORY

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt Says British Have Scoured Naval Success Without Firing a Shot.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, March 30.—Dreadnaughts have won the greatest victory of the European war without firing a shot, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt said today in a house naval committee session. With enough dreadnaughts, he said, the United States would win a "bloodless victory" in the war.

"Today the United States is richer and weaker than ever in its history in comparison with other powers," Mr. Roosevelt said, explaining that the nation has great potential resources, but only a "handful of an army" and a "very weak" navy. He urged that the United States should be prepared to meet the "immediate defense" by keeping the "fleet of the seas, Mr. Roosevelt said, the British dreadnaughts had attained the aim for which they were built.

That there is a possibility at least of this nation becoming involved in war with the victor in Europe, was stressed by Mr. Roosevelt. He feared that the United States would be a strong, expressing belief the United States fleet would be wiped out, the Panama Canal and United States possible to continue arming. Mr. Roosevelt said:

"It is entirely problematical, but judging by history the best guess is they will continue. We cannot tell who is going to win, but we can draw with everybody weak and draw out. Victory for either side results, history shows the victor will have enormous resources. If there is a victory, the victor will be a probability or possibility that we might be mixed up with that victorious side."

THINK THAT SUICIDE MAY BE JEAN CRONES

Detectives on Way to Connecticut to Identify Body of Unknown Man Found Hanging in Woods.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Milford, Conn., March 30.—Detectives are on the way to Milford from Chicago, it was learned today, to investigate a report that the body of a suicide-hung in some woods here a week ago, that of Jean Crones, a chef wanted in Chicago on the charge of poisoning soup served at a banquet thereof which Bishop Mundelein was a guest. A large number of guests were made ill.

The local authorities have been asked to hold the body pending arrival of the officers. The description is said to tally with that of Crones except the eyes of the dead man appear to have been blue, while those of Crones were brown. The undertaker who has charge of the body, says there is a possibility of the eyes changing color from strangulation as in such cases a bluish film covers the eye ball.

Although hundreds have viewed the body at the morgue no identification has been made. The clothes bore trademarks of Chicago firm.

REMOVE THE STIGMA ON MANUAL LABORER

Prof. Ross in Address to Students Denies the Student Who Works Way Through School.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madison, March 30.—The idea of placing a social stigma upon those who must do manual work is really a terrible disease which it is our duty to help exterminate wherever we find any trace of it," said Prof. E. A. Ross in his speech at the University of Wisconsin at Madison today.

"We sometimes see students looking down upon their fellow-students who are working their way through school. Whenever you encounter such an attitude do all in your power to exterminate it. There is no decent manual work which can place a stigma upon anyone."

In China fingernails of seven or eight inches in length are certain indication that the possessor is a person who does not have to work," declared the speaker.

MAY CONCLUDE RATE TESTIMONY TONIGHT

Hearing on Complaints Brought by Tittmore of Oshkosh Drawing to a Close.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., March 30.—From indications today the hearing on the Tittmore complaints for an adjustment of freight rates in Wisconsin may be concluded tonight. C. A. Leiby of the St. Paul Road, who was on the stand practically all day yesterday, completed his testimony as to the Tittmore case. The Tittmore exhibit was said to be the most complete of any ever presented before a commission. J. N. Tittmore of Oshkosh, who is conducting the case for the shippers, declared today that much of the testimony presented showed irregular freight rates and the very inequalities he was complaining about. E. Pierpont and E. E. Eymen, both of Chicago, are expected to complete the testimony today.

HALF MILLION WORKERS PRESENT DEMAND FOR EIGHT HOUR DAY.

IN COUNTER PROPOSAL

Several Railroads Present Proposals to Be Considered at General Conference—180 Systems Concerned.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

New York, March 30.—The demands of nearly 500,000 locomotive engineers, firemen and trainmen were presented to the general managers of all railroad companies involved at their headquarters in different parts of the country today.

Ask Eight Hour Day.

The employees who belong to the so-called Big Four Union asked for an eight hour day without reduction of pay, and time and a half for overtime. The railroad men have until April 29 to prepare their reply.

It is understood that the railroads already have made ready a tentative answer which amounts to a conditional refusal that leaves the way open for further negotiation. The demands of the men went to the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad yesterday, and eight railroad systems were refused.

Railroad Submits Demand.

Eastern Railroad managers replied today to the demands of their employees for an eight hour day and bigger rates for overtime work, by submitting propositions of their own for discussion.

The demands of employees are not refused, neither is a demand made by the railroads to accept the acceptance of their own proposals. These are submitted for consideration in the negotiations expected to follow.

"What the railroads ask for is an open hour for overtime work, by submitting propositions of their own for discussion."

Involves 180 Railroads.

Chicago, March 30.—The demands presented today by representatives of the so-called Big Four Trainmen's union involve 180 railway systems with 47,000 employees. The demands are exclusive of terminals and yards. In the eastern territory sixty railroads with sixty-three thousand mileage and in the southeastern territory, twenty railroads with 47,000 mileage.

Possibility that the railroads will not make a uniform reply to demands of the four employees' unions, was hinted today by industry railroad men. The union submitted their requests, in this regard a statement issued by J. W. Higgins, executive secretary of the association of western railroads, contained the following:

"As to whether the railroad will accede to the proposals (of the men) that a joint committee be appointed to negotiate for all the roads, I am not in a position to say."

First Concerted Action.

It was noted that the present demand known as the eight-hour day request, was the first concerted action of the railroads for a general proposition for all roads in the country. Employees' committees are expected to visit the general manager of every road before night.

Higgins' statement was:

"I understand that the demands of the train service organizations for the so-called 'eight-hour day' are being presented today by individual railroads and not by a general proposition for all roads in the country. The companies are given until April 29 in which to reply to the demands. Therefore, the matter is still in the hands of the railroads. As to whether the railroads will accede to the proposal that a joint committee be appointed to negotiate for all the roads, I am not in position to say, but the exact procedure to be followed will doubtless be determined within the next thirty days."

Railroads Oppose Method.

"Such a concerted movement on the part of all the organizations of train service employees on all the railroads and their representatives for consideration by management of all railroads, are without precedence in the history of railroading in this country. It appears many of the railroads are very reluctant to accede to a general proposition which contemplated the establishment of wage schedules for all roads, entirely regardless of differences of conditions on individual railroads and in various parts of the country."

The employees' committees representing the four unions were expected to visit the general manager of every road before night.

BOWLERS GET LOW SCORES LAST NIGHT

Five-Man Teams Roll in Poor Form Last Night—Good Scores Made in Single and Double Classes.

Janesville and Beloit bowlers in the southern Wisconsin bowling tournament which is about to close at the Miller alleys this week did not make things exciting on the alleys last night when they took part in the five-man events. The Parker Pen five were the stars for the evening and in the three games they only hit 2373 pins. The five from Beloit rolled the next best, having knocked 2216 of the alley's maples down in the pits. The Golden Eagle and Bostwick's fives were completely outclassed and they rolled far below their standard.

In the double events Richards and Osborn landed second place by rolling three good games and getting a total of 1137 pins. The tourney record in this class up to date is 1157 made by Perkins and Olson from the Line City. Cremin and Sartell tried their hand in the doubles last night and hit a score of 953.

Southman jumped in third place for the singles by landing a score of 370. After the first two events it looked as though he would set the tournament record. In the first game he rolled 241 and in the second a little better with 255 pins. In the third game 164 pins was all he could get. This makes an average of 190 for the three games, which is a very good score. Richards and Osborn fell down completely in their single games and neither of them went over the five hundred mark. Redmond of Beloit, rolled in this class, but did not get more than 428 pins.

APPLETON TOURNEY OPENS HERE TODAY

Annual Lawrence College Inter-School Basketball Tourney Opens With Many Teams Entered.

Appleton, Wis., March 30.—The annual state basketball tournament under the auspices of the athletic department of Lawrence college opened here today with teams entered from every section of the state. The tournament will continue three days, games being played each morning, afternoon and night. Dopsters pick the strong Fond du Lac outfit, which won the championship in the tournament conducted by the state normal schools, to take home the bacon. However, if Fondy wins, they will have no walkaway but will have to keep playing every minute. Madison is also represented by a strong team. If Fond du Lac takes the honors, there will be no doubt where the championship of the state will go, but if some other team comes out at the head of the column, then there will be two claimants to the state championship. Fond du Lac winning the tournament held under the auspices of the normal schools and the winner of the Appleton tournament. The state basketball championship in previous years was settled easily, but this year the normal schools conducted their sectional tournaments and later the winners of these met in Milwaukee to decide the state championship. This was practically in opposition to the tournament which Lawrence college has been conducting for several years. The outcome of the game are hoping that the normal schools and Appleton officials will meet together before the close of next season so that there will be but one tournament and one championship.

GOOD BROOK TROUT FISHING IS EXPECTED.

Chicago, March 30.—Since the winter of 1915-1916 has been a normal one with plenty of snow, an early spring should result, and anglers who desire to get the cream of the 1916 brook trout fishing should go early in the season, before the trout become wise to the wiles of the resident anglers, say fishing experts here. Early in the spring, where the waters are a bit off color from rains, many anglers find worms the best bait. But as soon as the waters begin to lower and clear up the trout will rise to the artificial fly, it is said.

SEEK PLAN TO DECIDE AUTO RACING CHAMPIONSHIP.

Chicago, March 30.—The American Automobile Association is working out the details of a plan on which to base the individual racing championship. The method likely to be adopted is a comparison based on point scores, and separate records for each car and each driver are to be kept, according to plans proposed. The association's contest board will designate which of the races may be considered "championship award" events, granting this designation where the list of entrants and qualifications warrant.

TITLE TO FRESHIES AS THEY WIN 19-9 FROM SENIOR FIVE

First Year Students Walk Away With School Championship in Basketball—Play Faculty This Afternoon.

Weight and size did not count much with the seniors of the high school last night in the championship basketball contest between the freshmen and senior fives. The first year students, who were outweighed by every man, swamped the fourth year men by a score of 19-9. Not once during the forty minutes did the seniors have a chance to break away and take the lead.

The freshmen sprang a couple of new players on the seniors and these two men, Inman and Sprackling, held their own scores. McCarthy, who is a member of the St. Patrick's church team and always a heavy scorer, could not find the loop at all last night. Cassidy and Cushing, as they always do, got away from their men and scored four and three baskets respectively. Poor basket shooting was the real reason for the seniors' defeat as with their many chances only three of them went through the loop.

Everything was in favor of the seniors at the start of the struggle, but at the end of the first half the freshmen led their elders by three points and the score stood 6 to 3. Cushing's sensational shot from the center of the floor was a stem whinder and the seniors were bewildered. Both teams put up a good fight and the game was very exciting. Nearly every member of the school was present and the spirit shown could not be surpassed by any other time. This afternoon at four fifteen o'clock the faculty played the faculty five. As the two teams came out onto the floor it looked as though a giant five was going to play a midge team. Hardly a member of the freshman squad touched the ball, one hundred and twenty-five pounds except Harold Buell.

Summary.

Seniors—9 Freshmen—19
Kronitz..... McCarthy..... Cassidy
McCarthy..... Cushing
McLay..... Buell
Doubles..... Inman
Mooney..... Sprackling
Who scored the baskets: Cassidy, 1 free throw; McLay, 2; Mooney, 1 and 2 free throws; Cassidy, 1; Cushing, 3 and 3 free throws; Buell, 1.
Referee—Keck.
Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

BIG NINE BASEBALL TEAMS ARE GETTING READY FOR ANNUAL SPRING SCHEDULE.

Chicago, March 30.—Postponement of the proposed abolition of intercollegiate baseball in the Conference for another year at least, has found diamond coaches in the Big Nine prepared for the campaign and warm weather has brought some of the teams out doors after preliminary work in gymnasiums. Here and at Urbana, fans believe the championship will go either to Illinois or to Chicago and a hard fight for the title between the ancient rivals is expected.

Both Maroons and Illini are to have veteran teams in the field. Nine members of last year's champions, including Captain Jack Bradley, the catcher, form the nucleus about which Coach Huff will build up his team, and eight "C" men are among the squad Coach Page is drilling at Chicago.

The Illinois veterans, besides Bradley are Styles, Arbuckle and Clark outfielders; Koptel, shortstop; Krebs, third base, and Gunkle, Halas and Davis, pitchers. Captain Buell heads the pitching staff at the Midway and the outlook on the slab is otherwise not any too bright, though in Goyens and Larkin, sophomores, the Maroon coaches believe they see possibilities. The veterans are Bill McConnell, first base; Hart, catcher; Cavin, an outfielder likely to be moved to the infield; Wan Kai Chang, the Chinese player, and George. The sophomores include Bodie Cahn, the speedy half back, and Rudolph, who got a batting average of .368 on the Maroons' tour of the Orient.

PENNSYLVANIA IS WINNER OF THE BASKETBALL HONORS

Philadelphia, March 30.—The University of Pennsylvania won the intercollegiate basketball championship here tonight by defeating Princeton in the post-season game. At the end of the first period the score was 9 to 7 in favor of Pennsylvania. Martin scoring three baskets, Williamson one, and McNichol one free throw for Pennsylvania. For Princeton Haas and Peres each scored a basket and Haas made three free throws. In the final period Paulson who substituted for Rahill at guard, scored one field goal and five free throws for Princeton, while Martin made a basket for Pennsylvania and McNichol five free throws.

FOOTBALL COACHES WILL MEET SOON TO ARRANGE NEW RULES AND OFFICIALS.

Evansville, Ind., March 30.—Football coaches and some of the most prominent officials in the Central States will gather here soon to discuss the new rules. Some differences of opinion as to effect of certain regulations have arisen and the conference is expected to act as a court in their interpretation. Officials will be appointed at the meeting for some of next fall's games.

Otto Rees, the southpaw who was with the Braves for three years, but who was turned loose last season, is going to "on the Pacific coast the coming season, and is now on his way from his home in Dayton, O., to Vernon.

Now that Benny Kauff has reported to the Giants the story is going the rounds that McGraw framed the holdout of Kauff just to offset the great amount of publicity the Yankees were getting on account of the signing of Frank Baker. This probably is not true, however, for from a reliable source it is learned that the New York club, through President Hempstead, made a lot of concessions to Kauff, who will draw $7,500 salary, and in addition got a $5,000 bonus for signing the latest contract with the Giants. Kauff now will have to demonstrate that he is as good a ball player as Ty Cobb, which he claims he is. Those who have seen Kauff says he will make good with McGraw, but that he is far from being a Cobb.

There won't be another Meadows in the majors this year. Manager Bill Donovan has turned back the young pitcher of that name he obtained from Richmond. Meadows was a youngster Jack Dunn picked up, and he looks to have the makings, but is a bit green for the big show.

The release by Salt Lake of the veteran pitcher, Jack Kilgus, probably means that he is through. He was let go to make room for Hughes.

M. A. C. COACH GAUTHIER IN CHARGE AT MICH. AGGIE. East Lansing, Mich., March 30.—George E. Gauthier, one of the best all-around athletes M. A. C. ever had, is in temporary charge of athletics at the Michigan Agricultural College, since the resignation of Coach John F. Macklin. Gauthier may be appointed track coach, as he has been given full charge of that squad. He starred on the eleven, under Macklin, and played basketball and baseball.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Fairly cloudy tonight and Friday, probably unsettled west portion; no important change in temperature.

BEFUDDLING THE ISSUE.

Apparently the present campaign for the election of a councilman is being sadly befuddled by many suggestions that are entirely foreign to the real issues at stake. Whether it is done for a purpose or not remains to be seen, but the fact that friends of a certain candidate seek to inject religion and nationality into the campaign is indeed unfortunate. They should be left entirely out of a political discussion and simply the fitness of the individual candidates considered.

Another unfortunate element that is being freely discussed brings into the campaign Councilman Goodman, who was elected to that office and has four years more to serve before his term expires. Mr. Goodman has made good beyond the fondest hopes of his admirers and his work as superintendent of streets and his excellent co-operation for the best interests of the city in the constructive work of the commission as a whole speaks for itself.

Mr. Goodman is not an issue in the present campaign, and because of his failure to take his orders from an element that thought they could control him has brought down their wrath upon his head and he and his actions are freely discussed. Mr. Goodman has the confidence of the citizens generally. He has been an efficient city official and it is unfortunate that he is the target for unjust criticism meant only to befog the real issue of the campaign.

The only question that confronts the voters is which candidate is best fitted for the office. Which candidate has the necessary qualifications that will make him a valuable public servant during his term. It is a matter of efficiency pure and simple. It is not a problem that confronted the voters of an alderman under the old regime, but a question of selecting a man to hold an important city office and give it the attention and care that can only come from a trained mind.

Roy M. Cummings is efficient. He has filled the office acceptably for the past four years and has the work well in hand. It is not a question of religion or nationality. Not a question of Commissioner Goodman and his excellent work of the past two years, that are at stake next Tuesday, but the election of a man best qualified to fill the position.

TARIFF AND WAR.

That the customs revenues have fallen off 33 1/2 per cent since the passage of the Underwood bill was shown by Representative Simpson, as set forth in the figures of the democratic treasury officials. During the fiscal year 1915, a full war year, the value of imports fell off only 1 1/2 per cent, as compared with 1912, but the customs revenues fell off 39 per cent. Analyzing the democratic free list, Mr. Simpson showed that it alone had occasioned the government a loss during 1915 of $89,200,000; that the loss of duties where the rates were lowered amounted to $26,000,000, a total of $115,200,000. That is, had the duties imposed by the Payne bill been collected on the actual imports of the year 1915, the customs revenues would have been increased by $115,200,000. Taking the month of January, 1916, Mr. Simpson showed that the imports were the largest of any January in the history of the country, amounting to $184,192,000, but the duties collected amounted to only $15,544,000, whereas in January, 1913, the imports amounted to only $129,000,000 and yet the duties collected thereon amounted to $29,000,000. Had the Payne bill been in force, the customs receipts for January would have amounted to $21,240,000, or practically double those collected under the Underwood bill. Mr. Simpson showed further that at the least calculation the Underwood bill is costing the government a loss of $14,000,000 a month, that multiplied by 12 this would give a loss of $168,000,000 a year, at the present war-time rate of importation; that this amount if collected would be sufficient to meet the president's preparedness program of $68,000,000, and leave a balance of $70,000,000, which would warrant the repeal of the democratic "war tax" imposed—not because there is war, but because the Underwood tariff bill is a barrier to the repeal of the free sugar clause of the Underwood bill does not, of course, mean an increase of tariff revenue, because that clause would not go into effect until May 1st, but it does obviate a still further increase of the deficit.

THE START MADE.

The initial steps to clean up the social ulcer that has so long disgraced Janesville and the vicinity at South Janesville is in a fair way of being removed by the court action now pending. It is time that there is a thorough house cleaning in this section and the sooner and more thoroughly it is done the better it will be appreciated by the public at large.

INTERNATIONALISM AND LAW.

"Elithu Root, former secretary of state, and prominent in shaping the policy of the United States at the second Hague conference, writes on 'The New International Law' in the World Court, organ of the World Court League," says the Wall Street Journal. "He does not indorse nor dissent from the recent dictum of Sir Edward Carson, that the law of nations has been destroyed by the present war. Mr. Root is content with saying that the structure built up during the last three centuries has been 'rudely shaken.' To the query whether so much of the structure as may be left after the war ends will be repairable, the American lawyer answers affirmatively and hopefully, from the reactions against a violated law he believes a stronger law may come; and this because many previous reluctances and assertions of self-interest on the part of certain nations, hostile to anything like concerted international judicial and administrative action, will have been made to seem as natural by the experiences of the war. To avoid anything like its repetition belligerent nations will agree to agree; whereas hitherto agreement has been out of the question. "Possessed of this faith in the educational and disciplinary effect of war, Mr. Root defines the coming changes in terms of concession by the nations to judicial settlement of disputes. But this presupposes, first, a system of law agreed upon as valid for all litigants seeking settlement at the hands of the court, and secondly, it calls for pledges of concerted action by nations not litigants in enforcing the international court's decrees. Once the law is agreed upon, its violation, judicially determined, must be punished by the collective international society, it being deemed that such illegal action is criminal, is hostile to the interests of society at large, and that the world's public opinion demands discipline for nations.

"To enforce the discipline against the larger powers when lawless in their attitude toward the small nations, nothing short of a federation of punitive purposes apparently will be strong enough to do the work that must be done, if the small state is to remain. As for the peaceable large nation, its only escape from the necessities of advanced preparedness seemingly will be in the knowledge that, if the international court rules in its favor, and the opposing nation declines to accept the decree as binding and proceeds to war, then the strong state will have to fight on the moral and, if need be, the physical support of allies who agree with it that honor and peace, as between nations, can best be conserved by sharp punishment of the egoistic national offender, which punishment an allied international police force should administer. In other words, there must be an international league to enforce the decrees of an international court, which in turn must have back of it world public opinion.

SENATE PROSPECTS.

That the next Senate will be Republican is the firm conviction of the political prognosticators. A change of eight members would evenly divide the Senate and leave the deciding voice on important questions to the vice president. A change of nine would give the Republicans a majority of two. The estimate of the Republicans and what is more important—of well-informed and impartial newspaper correspondents is as follows: that the Republicans will gain one Senator in each of these States: Maine, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, Ohio, Montana, Nevada, and Nebraska, and two in Indiana, making in all. They class Maryland and Arizona as doubtful, but think the strong probabilities are that the latter will return a Republican to succeed Ashurst. Some of the correspondents claim that the Republicans will lose a Senator in North Dakota, although that prediction is stoutly denied by the North Dakota Republicans. Taking the newspapermen's estimate, therefore, the Republicans will gain at least ten, probably eleven, and stand a fair chance of gaining twelve, but will lose one, so that they will control the Senate by a majority of from two to six.

THE DELEGATES.

Make no mistake on election day by not voting for the delegates to the national republican convention that go to represent the republican party of Wisconsin. Philipp, Ellingson, Cook and Baensch for delegates at large, and Ingersoll and Storm for district delegates.

By fixing a too high price on gasoline, the owners thereof are subsidizing a big force of inventors who are working on the problem of finding a substitute for their product.

After complaining because the newspapers are using a poor quality of paper, some people will go out in the back yard and proceed to light a large bonfire consisting of rags and other old paper stock.

Edison's idea of building a submarine in 15 days will be rejected by an indignant people, since it provides no lasting jobs for worthy and patriotic party workers.

The same men who blame the army for not catching Villa want the newspapers to publish a story of the pursuit which can be telegraphed to Villa and help him escape.

Once more the intelligent electorate of our country is prepared to go to the primaries and vote for the best handshakers as national convention delegates.

The necessity of saving up money to treat the girls to ice cream soda this summer is a powerful incentive toward the Thrift campaign.

The Thirty-eighth Degree.

You can't size everybody up. Some people who are mighty small are at large.—Prof. Simp.

"Still persists he's innocent, does he?" snorted Chief of Detectives Mullagatowny. "Fetch him in. We'll give him the thirty-eighth degree!" Five minutes later Edgar Pasteboard stood before the detective persisting that he was not the murderer of Simon Lambs.

"Don't try to get out of it!" warned Chief Mullagatowny, and got up and stood on the prisoner's left foot. The chief weighed 240 pounds in the shade.

"I didn't! I didn't! Get off my foot!" cried Edgar Pasteboard. "Don't contradict!" said Detective Rationbinder sharply, and stood on the prisoner's right foot. He weighed 250 pounds before eating.

"I'm innocent! Get off my foot! Get off my feet!"

"Confess!" yelled Detective Tuesday, as he started pulling the prisoner's hair out, thirteen hairs at a time.

"No! No! Stop pulling my hair! Get off my foot! Get off my feet! I did it! I did it!"

So they banished him, and when, the next day, after having proved Scummas Gargoyles the guilty man, they made a post mortem examination of Edgar Pasteboard and found that he was still dead, they decided there was nothing they could do to make it up to him, so they just buried him.

DELINQUENT TAXES SHOW BIG INCREASE

Total of $12,570.42 Returned Uncollected to County Treasurer From Various Assessment Districts.

The amount of delinquent taxes in Rock county this year shows an increase of over $2,000 over a year ago, according to the returns of the town, city and village treasurers to the county treasurer. The total returned as uncollected this year is $12,570.42 as compared with $10,103.81 a year ago. An unusual increase in the delinquent taxes returned from Beloit is largely responsible for the situation, although nearly every district reported that collections were slow this year. The amount returned uncollected from Beloit is $6,270.50, as compared with $2,807.66 from Janesville. The amount returned uncollected from Beloit a year ago was $3,615.95 and from Janesville $3,484.74. Abnormal pay assessments were largely responsible for the inability of Beloit taxpayers to meet their obligations. One or two pieces of property returned had taxes of $400 assessed against them, and in at least one instance the 1914 taxes were still unpaid. But one township, the town of La Prairie, returned a clean slate, the treasurer reporting that the total amount of taxes assessed had been collected. There were five such reports received a year ago. Edgerton and Evansville made a first class showing, but $75.22 being delinquent from the former and $78.32 from the latter.

Taxes may still be paid at the office of the county treasurer until the time of the tax sale which is scheduled in June. The rate on delinquents during April will be six per cent and will jump to seven per cent in May and eight in June.

Political Announcement.

Written and publication authorized by Roy M. Cummings and to be paid for by him at the rate of 30c per inch.

I don't believe it is profitable to go over, in detail, the facts given to the voters in my primary campaign. Nobody has denied those facts and no one has suggested that my statement was unfair or overdrawn. I believe, however, that I may properly call attention to some of these facts, in a brief way, because they make up the platform or policies upon which I am asking for votes. I ask for your votes not upon what may be done, but upon what has been done. You are well acquainted with the policies of the present city government. If you approve those policies I may expect your vote.

I. We have given Janesville better highways than it ever had, and they have been better kept up.

II. Janesville is one of the most orderly and best regulated cities in Wisconsin.

III. We secured for the city its Water Works and have operated it successfully for one year.

IV. We have ordered a reduction in consumers' rates, based upon experience and careful study.

V. We built a splendid concrete bridge, in the face of strong opposition, and have maintained it as public, not private property.

VI. In four years no one can point to a dollar of public funds that has been wasted, and no one even suggests that there has been any graft.

VII. We have reorganized the police department, added motor equipment to both police and fire departments and increased the efficiency of both.

VIII. We have ordered the telegraph, telephone and electric light poles out of the business streets, and have refused to permit any further building on the bridge. If elected I shall vote to MAINTAIN THE BRIDGE AS PUBLIC PROPERTY. Where does my opponent stand on these issues?

IX. We have increased the efficiency of the schools, and given the city its night schools.

X. We have reorganized the city lighting, and by May 1 we will have the most modern lighting system, in the state, including an ornamental street lighting system, AND ALL AT LESS MONEY THAN THE OLD.

In this campaign I am standing upon a record, which is open to all. I am not asking support on promises only. I stand upon the record of the present council, because I helped to make it. I invite public criticism of that record. What part of that record will my opponent change? What policy does he object to?

I believe that qualification for this office is going to be made the test by the voters, and I respectfully invite their consideration of the question on that basis. I solicit your support at the election April 4th.

ROY M. CUMMINGS.

I've seen Greenland and Iceland,

I've seen old Bagdad and Peru;
I've seen the haunts of Turk and

I've never traveled very much,
And for travel tours no money have
I spent;
I've seen these interesting things
On picture postcards that my friends have sent.

Uncle Abner.
Bud Hicks and Hi Purdy are fast friends, and there are those who say they are too fast for our town.
There are several ways of getting rich quick besides workin' on a newspaper.

It begins to look as though the patent leather shoe and the four-handed have come to stay.
Hank Frisby and his wife sold all of their bedroom suites, their stove and their dining room furniture to buy an automobile, and some say there is no prosperity in this country.

It doesn't take long to find out what some people know, and what they do not know with findin' out.
Mrs. Wait's husband has his electric lights and a bath tub put in her house and threatens to wrestle the social leadership of our town away from Mrs. Anson Frisby, who has held it so long with her pair of lorgnettes and her rubber plant.
Two things that never satisfy everybody are corned beef and cabbage.

Cutting Expenses.
I love to ride in a touring car.
And zip on the old stone road;
I love to tour the bergs afar,
And joke with the merry lazar.

I love to observe the trees flash by,
And hear the motor hum;
I love the rumble as we fly,
With the sound of a kettle drum.

I love the rush of the bracing air,
And the feeling of joy it brings;
It's sport that's quite beyond compare,
A sport that is fit for kings.

It's the jolliest thing that I know by far,
And my heart in rapture melts;
I love to ride in a touring car,
When it's owned by someone else.

Helpful Hints on How to Dress.
Always wear a red necktie to a dinner party where tomato bouillon is to be served.
Never wear tan shoes with a dress suit unless you happen to be a millionaire, and they will start a new style.

It is not considered necessary to wear full dress to a funeral.
If you sympathize with organized labor it is customary to wear a union suit.

MORE AMUSEMENT PLACES BEING RUN NOW IN PARIS

Paris, March 30.—Two hundred and thirty-two places of entertainment, theatres, cinematographs, music halls and cabarets—are now running in Paris as against 190 on Jan. 1, 1915.
This number includes practically all the theatres of Paris and the opera house, performances are, however, only intermittent matinees. No elaborate productions are contemplated until circumstances radically change.

Of the larger theatres, the Comedie Francaise is the only one now playing every evening; the others give from four to five performances per week, while the smaller theatres of the district quarters give three to four performances.

The moving picture shows are running far ahead of the theatres in "popularity and total attendance. During the month of December last the number of spectators in the theatres was 805,765, while during the same month
1,604,519 persons witnessed cinematograph performances. As compared with the preceding year, the increase in the number of theatrical audience was about 530,000, while the increase in attendance at moving picture shows was 800,000. The greater popularity of moving picture shows is attributed largely to the interest in war films that are shown each week.
American police films have also had a remarkable vogue during the season.

Though few original plays have been produced since the war began,
the prefect of police is nevertheless kept busy reading new productions and old ones with a view of eliminating such passages as do not pass the censorship. He has read 1,500 plays and examined 9,000 films since A. D.
31, 1915. He has also examined an average of 150 concert programs per week, representing a total of about 2,000 songs each week, all of them practically new. This partial revival of the theatre has gone far to relieve distress among dramatic and lyric artists, but the salaries are nothing what they were before the war. Most theatres pay very grudgingly, and some pay nothing at all, filling their seats with artists who are in dire distress and who prefer to act for nothing rather than grow rusty.

A marriage license was issued to John Harrington and Miss Sidorina Venske at the court house in Janesville, yesterday.

George Gary and J. P. Coon of Madison were business callers in the local market yesterday. Charles P. Touton, who formerly managed the Carlton
hotel in this city, called on Edgerton yesterday. They are now conducting a summer hotel near Peru, Iowa.

Miss Rose Harrington, who is teaching school, is enjoying a week's vacation with relatives in the city.

Miss Elsie Taylor, who is attending yesterday from Long Beach, Cal., where they have been spending the winter.

Henry Hain spent the day transacting business at Chicago yesterday.
A box car off the rails at this station last evening caused a congestion of traffic. There were five freight trains in the yards at one time besides the two evening passenger trains that usually meet here. It required quite a lot of switching to get the two passenger trains through the city.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

67 DAISY DEAN

It is not well known in America that Bertha Kalich, the famous tra-gedienne who is now a star in motion pictures, also is an accomplished and experienced grand opera singer. At the age of fourteen she joined a German opera company, having just finished a course in a conservatory in Leipzig, Germany. She soon left the German company and entered the chorus of a Polish company. At the age of fifteen she was offered an engagement in the Jewish theater as prima donna and for two years sang in operas and in biblical plays.

After a season in Hungary she returned to Poland for a year, but her fondness for singing sent her hurrying back to Germany. Rumania, where she sang the principal roles in
"The Gypsy Baron," "Il Trovatore,"
"Carmen" and in operas by Offen-bach and Stradella. Just at this time she met an American theatrical manager and he brought her to the United States in 1895. Her fame spread beyond the Bowery and the Yiddish theater and soon caused her to learn the language of her new people and take her rightful place in the English language theater.

Kalich is a Galician Jewess by birth, but an American by choice for the remainder of her life. She has an ingrained love and affection for America and all that it stands for in freedom of thought, speech and religious faith. Her transformation was one of the quickest ever effected in a foreign-born genius thrust upon strange soil.

SCREEN WORK DELIGHTS
DRAMATIST HOWARD
"I don't wonder that so many authors, dramatists and stage players are giving their whole time to motion picture work," said George Bronson Howard, the famous novelist and playwright. "It certainly is a fascinating world." The literary right had just spent a day at the studio, watching the making of several scenes for his series, "The Social Pirates."

Dorothy Bernard, when she is not working in one or another of the studios, cultivates roses. She says the finest fertilizer she has yet found is to save coffee grounds, dry them out and mix with an equal quantity of soil.

Robert-B. Mantell, the well known movie actor, is going into vaudeville.

"Well," exclaimed Bill, "you got what you want. We came mighty near getting pinched."
Seagure answered testily. "I don't see how I've got what I want. Rhinelander's deeds are not in this book.
Where are the pages that belong here?"

"Go find Spike," directed Seagure, wrathfully. "And bring him in quick."
"Suppose he won't come?" parried Bill.

"Kill him," returned Seagure without hesitation. "Erling him anyway."
The men, loitering along Main street and drinking, had worked themselves into an ugly mood even before Spike, walking through the crowd, was recognized by one and accosted. The man, who was quarrelsome, caught the convict by the coat collar. Spike shook himself loose and was walking away when Bill hurried on the scene.

"Where are the pages you tore out of that book?" he demanded angrily of Spike.

Spike regarded him with assumed astonishment. "What do you mean, telling me I tore anything out of your book?" he asked. "You carried the book out, didn't you? I know I didn't."
Abuse from Bill followed. It was returned by Spike with usury.

Across the street on a vacant lot the owner of an adjoining house, while burning some rubbish, was cleaning his rifle. As he jerked the shells from the magazine, one fell into the fire. Picking up those that he could find of the cartridges he returned to his house with the gun. Spike and Bill were in the midst of their heated argument a moment later when the report of a rifle started them. Both men, as a bullet sung past, instinctively dodged. In doing so Bill unluckily struck a projecting awning hook with his head. The blow was sharp and the end of the hook penetrated his temple. Bill sank to the pavement unconscious.

Some of the idle laborers who had been alarmed at the shot, seeing Bill go down, came forward. Bill, bleeding at the temple, lay while Spike, wondering what had happened, stood by.
The sheriff came up.

"There he is," said one of Seagure's men, pointing to Spike. "There's the man that did the shooting."

The crowd, angry at Spike, surged forward.

FIRST OF TWAIN FILMS A THRILLER

A Lasky Picturization of "Pudd'nhead Wilson" Seen at Apollo.

Readers of Mark Twain who saw
"Pudd'nhead Wilson" in pictures play-form at the Apollo yesterday, will want to take the book down from its undisturbed rest and once again forget all else in the magic of Mark Twain's story. It is fortunate that a master hand like Lasky has undertaken the picturization of all of Twain's works, this being the first. In this picture there is a clever arrangement of situations and there is art in the photographic expression that burns in to the memory visual images of specially telling bits. It is a picture to make a fan out of an occasional spectator.

Theodore Roberts in his audible, checked trousers, grasps one's attention and holds it. Roberts does that in every picture, but more than usual in this role. Florence Dagmar and Thomas Meighan won the praise of the audience also. "Pudd'nhead Wilson" is a detective story, with dramatic situations, suspense, and love that puts present day best sellers into the background.

AT THE APOLLO.

"Nation Is Asleep in Face of Grave Peril" William Brewster Tells Preparedness Committee.
The United States has not ammunition for 24 hours of fighting, yet she has 21,000 miles of coast to defend and 10,000 miles of coastline to police.
If attacked today by any first rate power, the United States would have exactly as much chance of winning as a celluloid dog chasing an asbestos cat through badger holes.

There are four kinds of people who oppose preparedness, and the hardest to handle are those who plead religious scruples.

I was told that Milwaukee would be sold against American preparedness, but I found that the Germans
there are the very strongest supporters of this government. They know the gun barrel is a better safeguard than the pork barrel.

How strong should our defense be?
I do not know. We have experts at Washington who figure that out. The main thing is prepare now, not for war, but against war. William B.
Brewster, Chicago Examiner, Wednesday, Feb. 16.

CANDIDATES FOR CITY OFFICES FILE PAPERS WITH CITY CLERK YESTERDAY

Evansville, March 30.—The list of nominations for city officials to be voted upon at the municipal election next Tuesday, filed with the city clerk up to Wednesday night, are as follows:

Mayor—Byron Campbell, V. C.
Holmes.
City Clerk—F. W. Gillman.
City Treasurer—W. J. Clark, George
L. Pullen, J. M. Shreve.
Assessor—R. E. Smith.
Justice of the Peace—N. T. Slaw-
son.

Alderman, First Ward—Wm. B. Atkinson, F. H. Winston.
Supervisor, First Ward—John Tullar.
Alderman, Second Ward—M. W.
Lewis.
Supervisor, Second Ward—M. L.
Paulson.
Alderman, Third Ward—Clyde Babcock.
Supervisor, Third Ward—H. L. Austin, L. A. Patterson.
Constable, Third Ward—H. O. Walton.

The home of H. Schlein, on North Madison street, adjacent to the C. &
N. W. right of way, was entered yesterday morning by burglars—supposed tramps—between ten and eleven o'clock. A small sum of money, was secured. The offender or offenders broke the glass in the side door, but failing to get entrance there jimmied
the door and entered the house, which they thoroughly ransacked, after which the visitor drew up a chair by the kitchen cabinet and evidently enjoyed a hearty repast.

The city is being thoroughly inspected under the direction of Chief of the Fire Department Roy Gillman, so as to comply with state laws so that it will be possible for the city to receive the 2 per cent. on all premiums paid in this city for fire insurance.
The work is progressing very rapidly and is being done in a very efficient manner. The state fire marshal will then examine and O. K. their report and certify that fact to the commission on insurance, which will then order the payment on premiums if same is satisfactory.

The Dramatic club of the Baptist church entertained the Tuesday Evening club of the M. E. church and the Reading Circle of the Congregational church at the church parlors Tuesday evening. The entertainment consisted of a play, "A Proposal Under Difficulties," presented by the following:
Paul Gray, Barlow; Spencer Pullin,
Vardier; Miss Thone Brunell, Miss
Juno, the maid; Miss Vio Rowley, Miss Dorothy Andrews. Following the play refreshments were served and a delicious social evening followed.

The club are under way for a banquet to be given by the Woman's Literary club in celebration of the per centenary of Shakespeare's death, on next Wednesday night. The speaker will be Mr. D. Benton.

"But all this time?"
"She stopped to take me in to see Aunt Sue."
"You might have telephoned."
"Aunt Sue hasn't any telephone."
"You might have found some way to let me know."
"Why, I am sorry, dear," said the little mother with an anxious sigh. The smile was quite gone now. She looked so much sadder than the mothers never get used to being scolded when they get so much of it.
"But not any queerer than some of our things. I'll leave you to guess what."

FIFTY THOUSAND DIED IN RETREAT OF SERBIAN ARMY

American Army Officer Gives Vivid Account of Retreat of Routed Army—Walked Over Bodies.

FEW REACH SALONIKI. Bern, via Paris, March 30.—Of 30,000 Serbian refugees, who followed the invasion of their country by the Teutonic allies, headed southward, only 8,000 succeeded in reaching Saloniki, all others having perished of cold and hunger on the way, according to a report just received from Mlle. Comte of Geneva, representative at Saloniki of the Associated Press.

Rome, Italy, March 29.—Henry Hall, formerly of the Fifth United States cavalry, who was one of the few Americans in the Serbian retreat, declares that during the journey to Podgoritz in Montenegro in a four days' snow storm more than fifty thousand men died.

"They died so fast," he said, "that they fell every few yards all along the road. The wagons and carts went right over their bodies. Nobody was trying to turn out of the way, but there were so many they could not but drive over them. The roads were full of mudholes. At one place I saw no less than seventeen dead men in one narrow puddle, unable to pull themselves out."

"I saw hundreds and thousands of ragged men, with their feet swollen too much to wear shoes or to walk on the frozen ground. They were carrying their hands and knees through the blinding snow, finally stopping and dying soon afterward. They never made any appeals for help. They would not have been any use. Besides, they were too far gone to know what they were about, that they were dying. Their last effort to keep going was merely a mechanical operation. Of course the great mortality all along our route was due to the barren nature of the country we were traversing, with no shelter for but a comparatively few of us. There were even no forests where we might have felled trees and built temporary quarters. Our fires for the most part were small, with barely enough wood to heat water."

Haller, who was on a visit to Budapest when the war began, served in the Austrian army and was serving as a major, when six months later he was taken prisoner by the Serbs and then finally was marched with 75,000 other Austrian soldiers across the mountains into Albania, and "here, on the shores of the Adriatic to fight for life against cholera, fever and starvation."

"We were supposed to have started on that retreat," said Haller, "with a Serbian army of over two hundred thousand men and about seventy-five thousand Austrian prisoners. Not many more than a hundred and fifty thousand of the whole lot got out of the mountains. It was not because the Austrians or the Bulgarians pursued us, however, with much activity. We died merely because of disease, hunger and exhaustion."

"The worst part of the journey began at the Albanian frontier. The Albanians have in times past been badly treated by the Serbs, and they took this chance to square old scores. They shot, killed, robbed and murdered us at every step of the way. For instance, at Linn, some Serb officers and a company of stragglers on horseback were met in the middle of the road by a few Albanians, and ordered to give up their horses and their money. It was plain highway and they refused. The peasants ran away and within a couple of minutes more than a thousand shots were fired out of the bushy hillsides, killing most of the Serbs."

"The food problem was terrific in Albania. A half pound of bread was sold at ten dinars, about 20 cents. I had a little money, a few francs, but I could not get any food. Had I not been able to get that money, I would have been a dead man. I had just sold to myself, for an emergency, when I perceived that I was being followed by a band of Albanians. I was a day, making a lot of soup out of them, putting them to sleep. At that I was far from the Albanians, who had to be kept from reaching the hot water. I saw men act like dogs, eating pieces of brown paper. There were perhaps not more than two thousand men and women, the retreating horde with us and it is a fact worth recording that they were kindly treated and given whatever comforts were available by soldiers who were otherwise dead to every feeling. I have seen such men, gaunt, shivering along, half naked, with few pieces of cloth for shoes, unable to speak, with barely strength enough left to step near a dying horse and cut a path for a moment near one of the women, carts and smudged under their last mouthful of food to some of the women."

"The treatment of the women on this dreadful retreat was to me the most wonderful thing I have seen. The most heroic part of the whole retreat. These poor women in their flight from their homes had in many cases been unable to bring enough cloths to cover them. Often they were without stockings or undershirts or hats or shawls or cloaks. I have seen them and again some freezing soldier take off his overcoat and force it upon some one of these women and seem almost ashamed to look upon her shivering body as he made the offer. Then he would search along the road for hours until he was able to strip some dead man of his clothes to replace that which he had just given her."

"What Haller regarded as his most remarkable experience was the sight of a mad soldier dying from starvation. 'Clothed only in a ragged undershirt he was running barefoot down a snow-covered Albanian road straight as an arrow, bellowing as he ran,' he said. 'He ran on and on, that road, seeing nothing yet bravely avoiding stumbling over the bodies of other dead and dying soldiers, and the meat-stripped carcasses of the army horses which blocked the way. Suffering intensely as I myself was, I turned and watched this strange man. At last, a half mile down the road he pitched forward and as he passed him later I saw he was dead.'"

"Other than that incident there is nothing that will stick in my memory so long as I live," said Haller. "This was the beginning of a Serbian march by the Austrian troops before I was made a prisoner. We were marching across a frozen country near Lechnitz when we stopped near a wayside but at its spring to get a drink. Colonel Hell of our regiment also went to get a drink. As he arose from the spring a shot came from the hut. That shot was fired by a woman. She stood at the door, an old shotgun in one hand, a baby in the other."

"One of the captains ordered her hung. There was nothing else to do but execute her. As a rope was placed to her neck and she was lead to the nearest tree she said 'This is a hard, cold voice. My husband was a soldier. I too die for Serbia.' She made no appeal. She did not cry out. We left her body hanging there in the wind. The baby was picked up and sent to the nearest prison camp, to be cared for."

SAVE ALL PAPER AS SUPPLY IS LIMITED

Paper Industry in United States in Danger Because of Shortage Due to the European War.

The paper industry in the United States is declared to be in danger. It is due to the great waste in this country, paper men say. Unless there is an end to this waste the paper mills may have to shut down.

The United States department of commerce is sending out circulars calling attention to the danger. The circular announces that the United States uses 15,000 tons of waste paper to make new paper; every day the people of the United States have 30,000 tons of waste paper on the streets; every day the people of the United States burn up about 20,000 tons of waste paper.

The paper men say that it is up to the people to save every bit of paper and rags and sell them to a junk man who, in turn, will sell them to the paper men who need them so badly.

Causes Are Given.

O. F. Dwyer, of the Dwight Bros. Paper company of Milwaukee, is speaking on the paper shortage, said: "We do not believe that the general public has any idea of the great shortage there is in the paper market, or why this shortage exists, and perhaps a few words of information of what causes this will help the condition. In the first place, Sweden has a monopoly upon the exportation of sulphite pulp. This is a large made from cooked wood, which we use in the manufacture of paper, and it amounts to about 40 per cent of our supply. This fiber is not native to the United States, and it is largely going to be used as a substitute for cotton, without which they would be unable to manufacture explosives."

Second, the rags that we use in this country to manufacture paper are largely imported from the countries now engaged in war, but there is a great shortage in this line and practically none is coming to this country. The reason is this: Many men who formerly wore overalls and the cotton shirt are today wearing military uniforms made of wool, and when they are through with them, they are burned. All of the soft rags that can be had are used to bandage the wounded.

Something has been done to take the place of this fiber. In addition to the demand at home, South America is looking to us for paper. Heretofore Germany has supplied this market. Only about ten per cent of the paper manufactured in this country is ever returned to the mill to be made over. There is a large manufacturing industry that can not get enough raw material to manufacture, while there is an abundance of this material in this country. We who think in dollars and not in cents do not think that it is up to us to do anything in the way of conserving our resources. It may be true that each household has but a small amount of rags and waste paper, remember that every house has some. Let everyone think seriously on this subject.

Raw Material Is Wanted.

"Will you help furnish the raw material to keep this great industry going and make it possible for the great industry of printing and lithography to go on? Also make it possible for business men, as well as private homes, to have paper for correspondence? As a jobber in the paper business in Milwaukee I am unable to get paper, and all of the jobbers face the same condition. My warehouse is practically empty and the mills which we buy from write us to this effect: Send us a carload of rags for paper stock and we will send you a carload of paper. Now I know nothing about the buying and handling of rags, but I will be willing to do my part and I will gather up the stock and pay the highest market prices for it. If anyone will phone Main 1592 and give us his address we will send for it. Will you help? It is within your power."

Advance in All Grades.

The cost of paper is soaring. All kinds have advanced in price. Blue print paper has gone up from 20 to 30 per cent; due to the advanced price of paper making materials and the scarcity of chemicals used in the blue process. Red prussiate of potash, which is the form used in blue process, has been made exclusively in Germany. Before the war it sold for 25 cents a pound; today it is difficult to obtain it at $7 a pound. Citric acid, from which the citrates of iron and ammonium are made, has advanced 150 per cent, and oxalic acid, from which the oxalates of iron are made, has advanced 1,000 per cent.

FRENCH PRESIDENT VISITS TRENCHES IN PLAIN CLOTHES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, March 30.—President Poincaré has added to the prestige of the new helmet of the French army by wearing it in his frequent visits to the first line trenches. The president has gradually modified the costume he has worn since the beginning of his visit until, with the Adrian helmet, his dark blue hunting suit, knickerbockers and leggings, he is so easily mistaken for an officer that he passes through the trenches almost unrecognized. When he speaks to the troopers, the latter, in doubt as to his rank in the absence of stripes or stars, addresses him often as "General," which, it is said, doesn't appear to displease him.

In the course of one of his recent visits General de Lamoignon, asked of a soldier from Brittany: "Have you ever seen the president?"

"No, General," was the reply. "You are mistaken," said the general; "you have just seen him; it was the man in dark blue who just returned your salute, and said to you 'Good day, my boy.'"

Another soldier, a Parisian who knew the president's features so well, he deceived cried: "Long live Lorraine."

The president smiled sadly at the allusion to his native region and descended into one of the dugouts that the French call the "cagne," ten yards under the surface. He stumbled going down and remarked: "There is a little lack of light here." The incident has been taken as the text for a demand for more candles for the soldiers.

Only three candles are allowed to each squad per week. They burn on the average eight per day, paying for the surplus out of their allowance of five cents per day.

Just So.

"I am on the scent of success."

"What are you doing?"

"Raising onions."

MAKE TOMORROW A BETTER DAY

If things "went wrong" today, if you felt discouraged, dull and listless, if you suffered from indigestion, constipation, sick headache, biliousness, bloating, sour stomach, gas on stomach, bad breath, or other condition caused by delayed bowel action, take a Foley Catheter. This evening and tomorrow will be a better day. They thoroughly cleanse the bowels, sweeten the stomach and invigorate the liver. This fine and wholesome physic acts without pain, griping or nausea.—W. T. Sherer.

Mexico Is As Big As the Five Largest States In This Nation

Washington, D. C., March 30.—"Before Texas became a part of the United States and the Mexican war added nearly a million square miles to our territory, Mexico, then a Spanish colony and the United States covered approximately equal areas of North America. Now the extent of Mexico is less than one-fourth of that of continental United States," says a bulletin just issued by the National Geographic society at Washington. In this statement there is given some very interesting figures which contrast the present size of the two countries.

"Mexico, however, still has territorial expense nearly equal to the aggregate of France, Great Britain and Ireland, Germany, and Austria-Hungary, but its total area (787,000 square miles) is less than that of our five largest states—Texas, California, Montana, New Mexico and Arizona—combined, all of these except Montana having been a part of New Spain 75 years ago. None of the 31 political subdivisions of Mexico are as large as any one of the five states named, but four Mexican states contiguous to the United States aggregate an extent greater than that of Texas. Chihuahua, the largest Mexican state, approximates in area (87,000 square miles) that of Utah, Sonora (77,000 square miles) of Nebraska, Coahuila (68,000 square miles) of Georgia, and Durango (40,000 square miles) of Kentucky. Nine subdivisions of the United States (including Alaska) are larger than Chihuahua, 15 of greater magnitude than Sonora and 32 larger than Durango. The general character of the Mexican border states supports sparse populations, except where mining exploitations and cities resulting therefrom have concentrated settlement.

"The mountainous ridge with limited littorals, which as a narrow peninsula extends southward about 750 miles from the United States boundary, and separates the Gulf of California from the Pacific ocean, is not a state, but is recognized as the territory of Baja California, which in area (58,000 square miles) closely approximates that of Florida. The Gulf of California and the shifting Colorado river practically isolate Baja California from the balance of the republic and prevent overland communication with it. Tropic, on the Pacific coast (11,000 square miles), smaller than Maryland, and Quintana Roo, adjoining Yucatan, are other territories.

"The United States is adjacent to Mexico for 1,800 miles and for a distance equal to that of St. Louis from New York. The Rio Grande river forms the boundary. Except when in flood this river is apparently an unimportant stream and readily crossed, for the normal flow is well utilized for irrigation in both countries; but it has carved in a part of its course a canyon difficult of exploration. The changes wrought by fresher which shift the channel have demanded the attention of an international commission whose function was to adjust a boundary along the Rio Grande to meet the varying conditions. The uncertainty of this is illustrated by a claim once under investigation that a portion of the important city of El Paso, Texas, was Mexican soil. The remaining 700 miles of the international boundary to the west separating our neighbor republic from New Mexico, Arizona and California is through an arid desert section, much of which is mountainous. This is not a direct line, but has five changes in alignment, which have been accurately surveyed and established by 258 permanent monuments easily distinguishable.

"Allowing for impassable canyons, mountain barriers, etc., probably 1,400 miles of boundary must be under surveillance to prevent smuggling or the passage of contraband articles. Railways in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona are close to the border, and these transportation avenues unite the two nations at even points."

OFFICER REPENTS FACT HE IS NOT ABLE TO GO TO THE MEXICAN FRONT.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

El Paso, Tex., March 30.—A lean figure in khaki stalked into the lobby of the Sheldon hotel tonight and sank into a seat. He wore the double bars of a captain. He had the look of a boy who has been denied something he has put his soul into longing for. The captain's air attracted the attention of a newspaperman. The latter bore down on the officer and greeted him with:

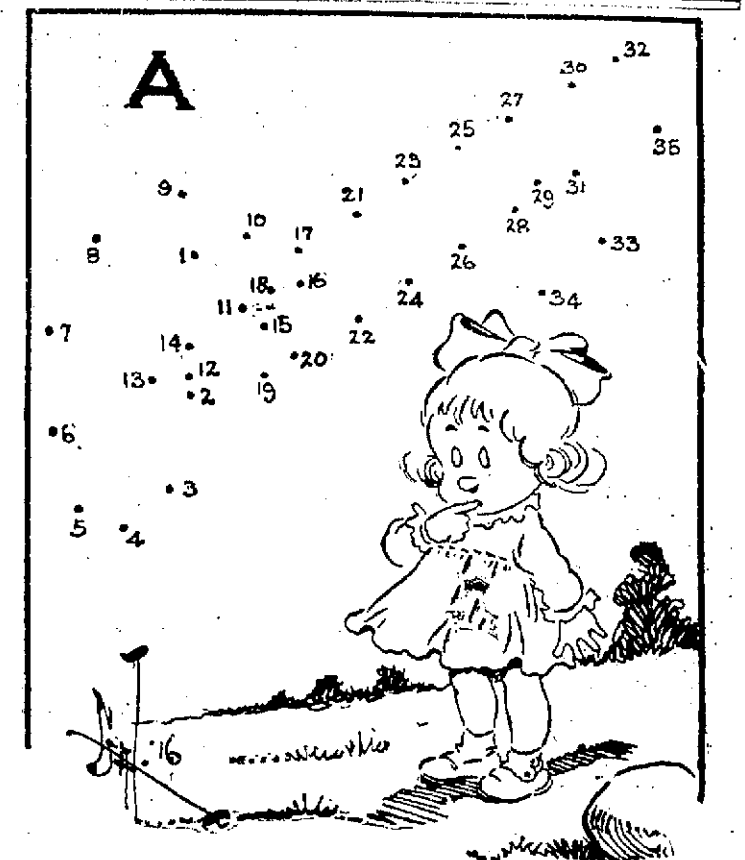

"You didn't go in, captain?" The officer's features twisted as though from physical pain.

"I'm not going," he said slowly. He tried to smile, but it was a sorry attempt. "I'm on the sick list."

He hurried on, releasing his pent-up protest against the break of luck in a torrent of words. "I've been in the hospital fifty-five days. Just got out. Got to go to Hot Springs. Abdominal trouble."

"Been waiting for this chance three years. Just as the opportunity arises, I'm invalided. Got to play baby while the rest of the fellows are having the fun. It's—it's hell! That's what it is. I—" He broke off abruptly, startled at his own unbidden volubility.

"Guess I've said enough," he growled. The officer was Captain Babcock of the Thirteenth Infantry.

TWO NORMALS FACE SHORTAGE IN FUNDS

Oshkosh and Plattville Schools Each May Lose $100,000 Appropriation Made in 1915.

Madison, Wis., March 30.—The normal schools at Oshkosh and Plattville each may lose an appropriation of $100,000 made by the 1915 legislature for building purposes and which may have been inadvertently repealed by the last legislature. The board of normal regents and other state officials have proceeded on the theory that these amounts were now available, only to find that a law enacted by the last legislature may have robbed both schools of the amount. It is also said that some of the appropriations of the charitable and penal institutions have been similarly affected.

The question assumes importance to Oshkosh at the present time because the main wing of the normal school is to be immediately constructed. Regents Kronsberg, Hamilton and Dempsey, all lawyers, are expected to have a meeting at Oshkosh the latter part of this week to decide what can be done. It is said here that Attorney General Owen, while not yet rendering an opinion, is not expected to say that these $100,000 appropriations are available.

"That's a question for the lawyers to decide," declared State Engineer J. D. Mack today in discussing the matter.

The probability is that the board of normal regents will bring a mandamus action in the supreme court to secure the funds. By this method it may be possible to get a ruling of the court early in May to settle the matter. There is some talk of starting this action on April 11, when court again convenes. There are others who believe that the only way out of the dilemma is to call the legislature in special session for a few days for the purpose of re-enacting these statutes.

The 1915 law made a specific appropriation to the Oshkosh normal school of $100,000 available March 1, 1915 for building purposes. This was one of the appropriations held up by Governor McGovern. Then comes the 1915 session of the legislature and by Chapter 635, amends section 25 to read as follows:

"There is appropriated on July 1, 1915, $5675 and on March 1, 1916, $75,000 and on July 1, 1916, $4,550, etc."

This law completely omits the $100,000 previous appropriation. The exact situation is true with regard to the Plattville normal school. The only difference is that with the insurance money Oshkosh will be able to go ahead and Plattville may not.

On the Wall. Those who go to war without their parents' consent and are killed in battle occupy a peculiar position in the after world in Mohammedan theology. They are on Al-Araf, the wall separating heaven and hell. Because of their treatment of their parents they should be in hell, but death in battle is martyrdom, which entitles the deceased to enter heaven. Because they are martyrs they should not be sent to hell; hence Al-Araf for them. There are other denizens of Al-Araf, among them those whose good and evil deeds so exactly balance that they are neither fit for heaven nor hell—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

URGES EARLY START IN CLEAN-UP WORK; A FEW HINTS GIVEN

New Law in Force This Year Provides Means of Enforcing Clean-up Campaign.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, Wis., March 30.—Better means of enforcing clean-up campaigns are enforced by Wisconsin communities this year. By a law enacted by the last legislature, chapter 163, laws of 1915, city councils and village boards are authorized to assess and tax property holders for the cost of collecting and removing ashes, garbage and rubbish from residences or premises. This tax may be included in the general levy and collected in the usual way.

The annual clean-up campaign is beginning in many communities. A plea for an early start is made by the state board of health.

"A clean-up day or week should be provided for each town, village and city in the state," says the board. "In cities and incorporated villages experience teaches that the best plan is to notify the residents that on certain days the local authorities will remove from the street all refuse deposited there by the various householders, the expense to be paid by the general public. This serves as a special inducement to clean up, and any who fail to avail themselves of this assistance should be required to clean up their premises at private expense."

"It is somewhat surprising that many people prefer to wait until well along in April before commencing the clean-up, merely because it has been their custom to do so. To prevent the fly nuisance most effectively, it is essential to remove all facilities for breeding as early in the spring as possible, and that time is now at hand."

The following clean-up hints are given out:

See that all rubbish is removed from your cellar, back yard and surroundings.

Don't forget to ventilate damp cellars. Clean all windows and keep them open to fresh air and sunlight.

See that all leaky roofs and bad plumbing are repaired, and do not tolerate dirty, broken walls and ceilings.

Don't forget what plenty of soap, hot water and sunlight will do to assist you in cleaning up.

Do not forget the attic or any remote place where flies and germs breed.

Dry sweeping and dry dusting are dangerous practices. Use the damp broom, the oil-mop, or oiled cloths.

Burn old waste paper and all other household rubbish at least once each week.

Drain moisture from garbage before placing it in the garbage can. Provide yourself with proper garbage can as required by your city ordinance.

Covered can, made of galvanized iron, not less than fifteen inches in diameter and two feet high. Put this can in a readily accessible place where the garbage collector can reach it. Do not throw waste paper of any description on any public street, or park, nor in your own back yard.

Don't expectorate on any sidewalk, street car or floor. It is a detestable habit, breeds disease, and is against the law.

Don't let milk bottles stand unwashed after use. Wash them at once and don't fail to rinse the bottles in cold water before scalding.

Don't forget the stagnant pools and ill-smelling refuse piles. They breed mosquitoes and flies, and consequently disease. Keep the loose manure in covered boxes and have it carried away at least once each week.

During the cold months of winter the average citizen does not have the pride in the outside appearance of his home that he has when the trees are in leaf and flowers in bloom. Consequently ashes and rubbish of all kinds are often allowed to accumulate. Such conditions are not only unsightly but are detrimental to health.

TOURIST SEASON IS SUCCESS IN SOUTH

Hotels in South are Crowded With Tourists. All This Winter—Some Sleep in Boats.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Havana, March 30.—The tourist season now drawing to a close has been by far the most prosperous that Havana has ever seen, the number of visitors from the United States exceeding by thousands that of any previous year and taking to their utmost capacity the steamship lines from New York, Key West and New Orleans. This has been due in part to the attractions of the fine racing track, inaugurated last year at Mariacua under unfavorable weather conditions, but in the main to the closing of all the European resorts and the serious interference of traffic with the other West Indian Islands due to the withdrawal of the German and British tourist steamers.

During the height of the rush southward all the hotels in Havana were so crowded that many visitors were compelled to find shelter for the night aboard the ships on which they arrived. This has given rise to a renewal of the long-discussed project of the erection in Havana of at least one tourist hotel of magnificent proportions and of various other plans to increase the attractions of the city. Several excellent hotel sites are available but it would hardly be possible to complete a building by the beginning of next year and fears are expressed that should the war come to a conclusion the rush of tourist traffic would instantly set Europe and so continue for years to come.

JAPANESE CONSIDERING
ELECTION OF LEGATIONS

Peking, March 30.—Rumors are again in circulation concerning the possible elevation of legations in the Chinese capital to embassies. The Japanese are known to be favorable to this movement, and it is believed that several other nations are also inclined to raise the standing of their missions in Peking.

It has been reported a number of times that the Japanese have under consideration the appointment of Baron Hanyashi, the present ambassador at Rome, to the Peking post in case it be elevated to ambassadorial rank. Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador at Washington, is also spoken of as a possible ambassador to Peking.

Peking by all means is the most important foreign capital to the Japanese. The Chinese and Japanese interests are so inseparably connected that the Japanese public has always clamored for efficient diplomats at the Chinese capital, and it is very keen for the advancement of the mission to such a standing that the most experienced men in the Japanese foreign service can be assigned to Peking.

It is generally believed in China that all the entente powers would advance their legations in Peking to embassy status. The Chinese and European representatives feel confident that the United States would not be slow in raising its legation to an embassy should any other power take the lead. American financial concerns are showing renewed interest in China since the European war has cut off the money supply from London and the continent. Consequently many Americans have recently come to Peking and other Chinese centers to engage in the development of various enterprises.

This American invasion has caused much comment among the Europeans and the Japanese, and has given rise to a rumor that the United States has under consideration the elevation of its legation to an embassy. Since the United States has shown a disposition to act independently of the entente and central powers handling questions which arise in China, the other powers feel that they may not be consulted by the United States before it decides to raise the standing of its mission in the Chinese capital.

UNCLE SAM'S OLDEST SOLDIER IS READY FOR SERVICE IN MEXICO

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Columbus, O., March 30.—The United States barracks here has the oldest soldier in active service in the United States army. He is Otis C. West, 68, a private, who works in the barracks store room, but he is ready to join the Y.M.C.A. camp.

"I'm no spring chicken, but if Uncle Sam wants any old fellow with a lot of pep and who knows the fighting game, to go after Villa, he sure can count on me," West said today.

Having reared a family and closed a busy civilian career which ran all the way from farming to college teaching and politics, West through special provision of Adjutant General Corbin enlisted in the army when he was 61 years old.

A private has to serve thirty years before he is retired on a pension.

West has served fifteen years, five of which were in the Philippines, and he says he's going to serve out the other fifteen.

"During my entire army service I never killed a man, but I've had some exciting experiences," said West. When I was a kid of 6 in Cedar Falls, Iowa, near Spirit Lake, I was in the midst of the Sioux Indian massacre. I remember how the Indians shut us up in the village and how scared we all were.

"Do I remember the civil war? I remember what a licking my dad gave me when I ran away from home at the age of 14 to join the Union forces. I didn't get very far. I was caught. I was at Ft. Brown, Tex., in the Third battery, Twenty-sixth infantry, in 1865, when the Twenty-sixth infantry of colored troops had an uprising and President Roosevelt discharged the whole company."

In 1876 West taught commercial law at Oberlin university. In 1877 he became constable at Des Moines, and later was elected city assessor. On McKinley's second call for volunteers he joined the Third Nebraska cavalry at Omaha. A year later he joined the army, went to the Philippines and then to Ft. Wayne, Mich., where he was promoted to quartermaster sergeant of Company B, 26th infantry.

Because of the expiration of his time West was discharged in 1913, came to Columbus and re-enlisted as a private at the age of 63 years.

CITY SCHOOL TEACHERS ARE PAID ON AVERAGE $60 TO $70 A MONTH

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., March 30.—The average teacher in the city schools of Wisconsin receives per month between $60 and $70. This is the statement made by State Superintendent C. P. Cary based on recent compilations of school statistics for Wisconsin. He says that of teachers in the grades, however, 48 percent, or nearly half the total number receive less than $60, while only 2 percent of men teaching in the grades; 2.5 percent of men in the high schools and 2 percent of women in high school work receive less than $60 per month. Fifty percent of men teaching in the high school receive over $110 a month and 72 percent $100 or over. Fifty-one percent of men teaching in grade positions receive $100 or more, whereas only 2 percent of women in the grades and 14 percent of women in the high schools receive more than this amount.

The law required that no teacher be paid less than $40 per month. In the state it was found that 75 individuals are earning less than this, but in almost all cases there were part-time teachers or cadets in kindergartens or grades.

THOMAS OSBORNE GOES ON FOR SECOND TRIAL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

White Plains, N. Y., March 30.—Thomas M. Osborne, millionaire sociologist and Warden-on-Leave of Sing Sing penitentiary, is scheduled to be tried in State Supreme Court

THE ADVENTURES OF TOM AND TOWSER.

SAY, THERE'S A STRANGE DOG OUT HERE WHO SAYS HE CAN LICK YOU WITH ALL HIS FEET TIED!

HE DOES, HEY? WELL YOU WAIT HERE AND I'LL MAKE HIM PROVE IT!

OH! I GUESS THAT STRANGE DOG IS CATCHING IT!

HE WAS RIGHT!! MY ERROR!!

OUCH! OW! OH!

here today on an indictment charging him with mismanagement of the prison. Osborne recently was acquitted on the other indictment charging him with perjury. It was alleged he misstated facts concerning the morality of prisoners, while under oath. Osborne's friends say the "gang" is trying to "get" Osborne "because he killed the prison graft and cleaned things up." District Attorney Weeks refutes the statement.

REMOVAL OF SOME OF
JAPAN'S INDUSTRIES
TO CHINA IS URGED

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Tokio, March 30.—The removal of some of Japan's industries to China is being recommended by the chief of bureau at the ministry of commerce. The suggestion is offered as a practical means of avoiding the disadvantageous effect of a possible increase in Chinese import duties, and is received with interest here because Japan at this time is using every effort to increase the markets in China.

Mr. Oka's idea is that Japanese factories should produce in China the amount of goods that would be normally exported to that country from Japan. That is the best way, in his opinion, for Japanese business men to prepare for the eventuality of an increase of Chinese customs.

The Japan Foreign Trade Association is making a special study of conditions in China with a view to extension of trade relations there. Mr. Oka believes that the best locality for the setting up of Japanese factories would be the Yangtze valley, as the population there is the largest, labor the cheapest, raw materials the most abundant and the supply of coal convenient. In central China generally he recommends the organization of such industries as spinning, weaving, flour-milling, leather works, glass and soap-making, printing, building materials, iron works, match-making, shipbuilding, machinery, breweries, and sericulture.

These industries, he points out, have already been well developed in Japan and it should be comparatively easy to send to China engineers and skilled laborers. He thinks it important, however, that the enterprises should be as much as possible joint Japanese and Chinese concerns. Such an arrangement would be mutually beneficial and would enhance the cordiality between the two nations.

Dinner Stories

"How I envy you seafaring men," said the sweet thing. "It must be wonderful to gaze on the broad expanse of the ocean and breathe the clean salt air."

"Yes," replied the stoker. "It must be."

Miss Gigglegum (single and romantic)—The shower of soot and ashes from Vesuvius must be an awe-inspiring sight. Would you not like to witness it?

Mrs. Pottson Pans (married and prosaic)—Oh, I don't know—I've seen my husband take down a stovepipe. —Judge.

"There, I just knew you'd forget," said the suburbanite's wife as she met her husband at the door. "Why didn't you go to the employment agency, as I told you, and bring home a cook? You men can't be trusted to remember anything."

"One moment, please," interrupted hubby. "I didn't forget. I went to the employment agency and picked out a cook—a good one, too. If you can judge by her references."

"But where is she?"

"I'm sorry, my dear, but I lost her. 'Lost her?' Nonsense! How could that happen?"

"I got into a pinocchio game on the way home in the train and Jim Briggs won her away from me."

"See there is great activity in shipping circles of late."

"Shipping circles? What do they do that for?"

"Ship circles. Where do they ship them to?"

"Don't get funny. You know what I mean as well as I do."

"Oh, I get you now. You mean automobile tires."
